

Ethics in Science Workshop

Basics of Bioethics

Science and Ethics of Stem Cells

April 4/5 2008

Friday, April 4, 4-8pm, Saturday, April 5, 10-3:30pm
Farleigh Dickinson University
College at Florham, Madison, NJ

Keynote: Dr. Jennifer Moore, Asst. Director, Stem Cell Core Facility
Rutgers, the State University of New Jersey

Cost: $25 with credit card or $20 with check. All meals included. Professional development hours awarded to attendees

To apply online, please visit: <http://nwabr.kintera.org/njstemcellworkshop>

To receive additional information, please contact Jeanne Chowning, Education Director,
NWABR, jchowning@nwabr.org

Presented by the Northwest Association for Biomedical Research in conjunction with the New Jersey Association for Biomedical Research
New Jersey Science Education Leadership Association

Visit our website at www.nwabr.org!

*Workshops and materials funded by "Collaborations to Advance Understanding of Science and Ethics"
Science Education Partnership Award from the National Center for Research Resources
National Institutes of Health, 1R25RR016284-01A2*