

Allison Nishitani

Instructor: Camp BIOmed, NWABR

Allison has a bachelor's degree in neuroscience from the University of Southern California and a Ph.D. in neuroscience from Harvard University.

For the last 5 years, she has been a high school teacher and taught classes in general biology, neuroscience, and molecular biology research. Allison is passionate about sharing biomedical science with students and spending time outdoors with her family.