

Located in scenic Portland, OR, Oregon Health & Science University (OHSU) has a fantastic opportunity for a Research Integrity Specialist, IRB. The Research Integrity Specialist works independently and acts as an advanced professional resource in giving specialized and detailed guidance, performing independent review and final determination/resolution of human subject research projects, in conformity with federal and state regulations and OHSU policies. This position will work in the OHSU Integrity Department, with the Institutional Review Board (IRB). The IRB oversees/manages the ethical and regulatory review and oversight of research projects involving human subjects.

Qualifications: Bachelor's degree and four years of related experience, including knowledge of requirements related to research, the ability to understand medical and scientific terminology and procedures, and to accurately identify drugs, devices, procedures, etc. in order to provide thorough and accurate protocol review. If not already obtained, the expectation is that the employee will become a certified IRB Professional (CIP) within 2 years of hire.

Recognized for being an environmentally conscious city and known for its extensive park system, Portland welcomes outdoor enthusiasts, foodies, and bicyclists. Portland is home to the nation's second longest aerial tram which connects OHSU's main campus to the South Waterfront campus.

OHSU is the state's only comprehensive public academic health center and has a multifaceted mission that includes excellence in education, research, patient care, and community service. OHSU strives to make Oregon a national leader in health and science innovation for the purpose of improving the health and well-being of all Oregonians and beyond.

OHSU researchers brought in over $450 million in fiscal year 2018, and OHSU is a nationally ranked research institution, named among the top 20 research institutions in the world by Nature in 2017. OHSU is also home to one of the seven National Primate Research Centers.

OHSU has over 16,000 employees and more than 2,800 faculty.

OHSU's education units consist of a School of Medicine, Dentistry, Nursing, School of Public Health, and College of Pharmacy. There are over 5,000 students and trainees in a wide variety of certificate and degree programs. OHSU has over 39,000 alumni.

Apply online at www.ohsu.edu under iCIMs 2019-3356.

OHSU is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment and will not be discriminated against on the basis of disability or protected veteran status.