

When a Researcher Becomes a Patient

an evening about courage, advocacy, medicine and science

Rebecca Dresser, JD and Keith Eaton, MD PhD, Washington University in St. Louis and University of Washington

Rebecca Dresser, JD. Author and teacher of ethical and legal issues in biomedical research and practice.

Sometimes it takes a wicked challenge to inform your work and your personal path. You are cordially invited to hear Rebecca and Keith's personal cancer journeys and how their experiences have informed their work.

Keith Eaton, MD, PhD, is a medical oncologist and a clinical investigator in the areas of immunotherapy and molecularly targeted therapy.

July 24, 2019 6:15 - 8:30 p.m.

Alder Auditorium (accessed from Alder Commons)
1045 NE Campus Parkway
Seattle, WA 98105

Refreshments and networking 6:15-7PM, presentation 7-8PM, Q&A and refreshments until 8:30PM.

This event is open to all, registration is free thanks to NWABR's generous donors.

REGISTER at <https://tinyurl.com/patient7-24-19>

About NWABR

We are a non-profit organization dedicated to promoting the public's trust in biomedical research, and its ethical conduct. We are committed to relationships between people, ethics, medicine, research and society. Everyone is welcome. No science background necessary.

